

About CAPNA

All CAPNA practitioners are board certified in their specialty and hold a Doctor of Nursing Practice (DrNP) degree – the highest clinical doctorate in nursing.

CAPNA practitioners offer comprehensive physical exams, including women's health examinations, diagnose and treat acute and chronic illnesses, and provide home care visits as needed. Patient education and counseling about disease prevention and health promotion are central components of the practice.

CAPNA accepts the following insurance plans: Aetna US Healthcare, CIGNA, Empire Blue Cross/Blue Shield, HealthNet/PHS, Medicare, Multiplan, PHCS, Oxford Health and United HealthCare.

Columbia Travel Medicine at CAPNA

Columbia Travel Medicine at CAPNA provides travel health services including pre-travel consultations, personalized immunization recommendations, dietary recommendations and safety plan education to help the traveler stay healthy.

All CAPNA travel medicine specialists can provide a full range of vaccinations and CAPNA is a certified CDC Yellow Fever immunization site.

Columbia Travel Medicine at CAPNA does not accept insurance – all fees are payable by cash or credit card at the time of service.

To schedule an appointment, call 212-326-5710.

...and more.

Columbia University School of Nursing is pleased to announce an all new service that takes CAPNA further... in fact, it takes it everywhere.

CAPNA
16 East 60th Street, Suite 440
New York, NY 10022
212-326-5705

CAPNA

Columbia Advanced Practice Nurse Associates
is a primary care practice affiliated with Columbia University School of Nursing.

