

The Sloane Stork Room

The Stork Room is a special service whereby expectant mothers may request a private room. Effective January 1, 2009, a fee of $400 per night will be charged when you are admitted to the room. Please note that this service is subject to room availability at the time of your actual admission. We will do our best to fulfill your request; however, availability of private rooms is dependent on the volume of patients being served at that time.

To help us project demand, please complete and return the bottom of this request form. Again, completion of this form does not constitute a firm reservation but it will help us better plan for your visit. If you have any further questions about the Stork Room, please call 212-342-1759. We look forward to seeing you.
