Columbia University Medical Center’s Department of Pediatrics and Dr. Karen Soren are proud to announce the opening of the Adolescent and Young Adult Practice at the Columbia Doctors West 51st Street office!

Services:
Consultative services for patients 12 to 25 years of age, including the evaluation of acute and chronic illnesses, reproductive health care, screening and contraceptive services, and psychosocial assessments.

Located at:
51 West 51st St.
(between 5th and 6th Avenues)

Insurance Information:
Most commercial insurances and managed care plans are accepted

Call for Appointments:
212-326-3350

Karen Soren, MD, is an Associate Professor of Pediatrics and Public Health at Columbia University Medical Center, and the Director of Adolescent Medicine at the New York Presbyterian Morgan Stanley Children’s Hospital. After receiving her BA from Harvard University and her MD from New York University School of Medicine, she trained in Pediatrics at Children’s National Medical Center in Washington, DC, and then Adolescent Medicine at University of Chicago Medical Center. An experienced clinician and educator, Dr. Soren is board-certified in Adolescent Medicine and a nationally recognized expert in the field. In addition to providing clinical care to adolescents at Columbia University Medical Center through the establishment of a comprehensive adolescent medicine community practice, Dr. Soren is responsible for the development of the Adolescent Medicine training program at Columbia University. She has particular expertise in the fields of adolescent reproductive health care, mental health issues in adolescents, and prevention of underage drinking.

Learn more about our midtown facility.